

The Examiner's PTO-892 dated 1/2/2008 incorrectly listed a patent and herein attached is the correct citation listed on a new PTO-892.

Claims 1-4 and 6 renumbered as 1-5 respectively are allowable.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the recitation of a device in combination with a window regulator and vehicle door having a base element on a lower section of the door and having a first and second elongated hole, a slider moveable within the base element and provided with a hole aligned with the first elongated hole of the base element, a screw having inner threading and having a head wherein the screw extends through the first hole in the slider and the first elongated hole, and a bolt attached to the window regulator and extending through the second elongated hole and having threads which engage the threads of the screw such that the screw can be turned from a first position in which the screw end opposite the head does not engage the slider and to a second position in which the screw end opposite the head engages the slider is seen as an unobvious improvement over the art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
